BALTIMORE (Map, News) - Keswick Multi-Care Center says it plans to build a retirement community on land the Baltimore Country Club owns.

The $195-million continuing-care retirement community in Roland Park would be built on 17 acres of club property Keswick has agreed to purchase. A vote is set next month by the club's 2,000 voting members; two-thirds must approve.

According to Libby Bowerman, C-E-O of Keswick, early plans call for 225 independent-living units, 58 assisted-living units and 40 skilled nursing beds. A 403-space garage is also planned.

The complex would employ about 150 people.

Didn't the neighborhood fight the idea of RPCS or Friends buying the plot for fields/courts? I think I remember that they were concerned about lights and traffic. At the time, I thought one of the schools buying it was probably the best option. I think this new option is sad.
