Roland Park Elementary/Middle School is the recipient of the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts School of Excellence in Arts Education Award.

The award, presented by the Kennedy Center Alliance for Arts Education Network, recognizes public schools for their arts education programs and for making the arts an essential part of education.

The schools' nomination materials included essays, documentation of arts scheduling, letters of recommendation and a 14-minute documentary video of the school's arts programming.

The official presentation of the award will take place May 21 at Towson University during the annual Arts Education in Maryland Schools Cultural Arts for Education Conference.

Roland Park Principal Carolyn Cole said the school will celebrate at the Celebration of the Arts Gala on May 15.
