

ROLAND PARK

May 16, 2009

Dear Roland Parkers,

One thing was most important in the success of Roland Park in the issue involving the Baltimore Country Club. We came together as a community.

That pulling together, brought involvement of individuals not drawn in by community affairs before and provided the political weight to influence public policy. That participation was parlayed into success with many other issues including the marvelous restoration of the Roland Park Fire Station.

This next Wednesday, May 20, the annual meeting of the Roland Park Civic League will take place from 7-9 PM at the Roland Park Public Elementary and Middle School. I hope all in Roland Park will come together again to attend.

We have news relating to our efforts to build a dialogue with the Baltimore Country Club. I think the message will be encouraging. We will also update concerning other ongoing issues and highlight new initiatives. For example, Roland Park will participate as one of 8 pilot communities in a major sustainability campaign.

I'm also excited that our guest speaker will be Dr. Andres A. Alonso, Chief Executive Officer of the Baltimore City Schools. Those from surrounding communities are welcome to hear Dr. Alonso speak.

We have invited all of our elected City and State representatives and this is an opportunity to express our appreciation of their support for Roland Park.

There is room for everyone to participate this year. We need your involvement. Please attend this meeting.

Sincerely,

Philip J. Spevak, M.D.
President, Roland Park Civic League
